

Public Policy Coordinator

UPDATED SEPTEMBER 28, 2015

NAMI GBCAN

The NAMI Greater Boston Consumer Advocacy Network (GBCAN) is a peer-run organization helping people advance in their recovery from mental health and/or addictions. Our volunteers help run support groups, do individual and systemic advocacy, outreach and development, information technology, public policy, tutoring and other activities. You will be working closely with co-founder Howard D. Trachtman, BS, CPS, a nationally recognized mental health advocate and a variety of passionate other volunteers.

Responsibilities

The public policy coordinator will help NAMI GBCAN advocate for policies and laws that improve the quality of life for people with mental health and/or addictions.

The coordinator will help to organize existing advocates and recruit new advocates and teach them how to do individual and systemic advocacy. We will participate in various lobby days at the State House, preparing people to meet with legislators and emailing, calling or writing public officials. We also will be partnering with allied organizations.
